“I’ve had the pleasure to work closely with Jing Ye on several occasions both in the designing and execution of learning programs. She is a very talented executive coach and facilitator able to connect deeply with professional audiences and deliver transformational learning experiences. Jing has the rare ability to meet any audience where they are, connect in an authentic and engaging way and then lead them toward new learning or shared goals. I enthusiastically recommend Jing for any work related to coaching or leadership development.” - Paul Byrne, VP, Corporate Services, The Coaches Training Institute.
